Tuesday Stephens procured a box in which to place the creatures until he could prepare a cage for them. He then entered the cage, the box being left at the opened door of the cage. He seized the snakes, and had succeeded in getting all in the box but the python.

Before removing the python Stephens stopped a moment to watch the snakes in the box, but was startled by a fierce hissing behind him. Glanc ing around, he saw the python soming towards him, its gves flashing and its tongue darting. Stephens saw his danger instantly. Knoxville, Tenn., Aug. 26. The examining trials of the prisoners at Coal City have come to a sudden termination. Since yesterday the trial of D. B. Monroe has been in progress before Justice Kincaid, of Clinton. Many witnesses were examined and much damaging evidence adduced. The proof shows that there was an oathbound organization and that these men were numbered and did not go by names. Yet there is scarcely a man about Coal Creek or Oliver Springs who does know who was in the various mobs. They know positively each from their respective neighborhood, but on the witness stand they had the most defective memories. But
